

Until 10 months ago did database marketing programming for telephone lead lists. It was not that difficult to apply different DNS requirements to different states.

I like the Indiana standards, it is a red herring about the extra costs. The telephone people just want more access to people like me.

I hated the calls in Texas and I rather be contacted via email not phones. Let us make the choice not the telemarketers.